Expo Center Providing Horse Shelter for Fire Evacuations Evacuees of Wildfires are Encouraged to Contact the Expo Center

City of Industry, CA --- The Expo Center announced today that it will again provide shelter for horses from homes being evacuated because of wildfires. The Expo Center is working closely with local authorities on the equine evacuations to ensure the safety of these animals.

This announcement was made as several fires in the Southland have continued to burn and spread due to strong winds. The Expo Center had opened its stables back in October to several horses that were evacuated from the Anaheim Hills fire.

If you are being evacuated and need shelter for your horse, please call the Expo Center office at (626) 330-0324 for more information. Please contact Jeff Cowan for after hours assistance at (626) 665-4059.
