City Contract Project Manager Named President of the Southern California Chapter of the American Public Works Association Annealta Group's Tim D'Zmura to Lead the Organization Through 2018

City of Industry, CA – This week, Tim D'Zmura, President and CEO of the Annealta Group, was named President of the Board of the Southern California Chapter of the American Public Works Association (APWA). The American Public Works Association (APWA) serves professionals in all aspects of public works, with a worldwide membership more than 30,000 strong.

Tim D'Zmura has decades of experience in the planning and engineering fields and started Annealta Group in 2015. The Annealta Group provides professional consulting and staffing in the areas of engineering, building & safety and planning, for many municipalities.

Annealta Group has been contracted to work with the City of Industry since December 2016. They have served the City with contracted planning staff, development plan checking, field inspections and project planning support to the Industry Property and Housing Management Authority.

"We are not surprised that Tim was chosen to represent the American Public Works Association as President," said Paul Philips, City Manager. "Tim consistently exemplifies professionalism and skilled engineering and planning in all of the work that he does for the City. We have him and his staff to thank for many successful projects that have benefitted the community and I know he will do a great job leading the organization this year."

About the American Public Works Association

APWA includes not only personnel from local, county, state/province, and federal agencies, but also private sector personnel who supply products and services to those professionals. As a comprehensive public works resource, providing varied educational and networking opportunities that help public works personnel grow in their professionalism and directly impact the quality of life in all the communities they serve.
